Becerra Confirmed As HHS Secretary

Xavier Becerra has been sworn in as the 25th Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). Becerra was confirmed by the Senate in a narrow 50-49 vote on Thursday with the support of only one Republican, Sen. Susan Collins (R-Maine). Collins stated that Becerra's commitment to rural health care and lowering drug prices was the reason for her support. As Secretary, Becerra has pledged to focus on ensuring that all Americans have health security and access to health care.

Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer (D-N.Y.) has filed cloture on the nominations of Vivek H. Murthy to be surgeon general of the Public Health Service and Rachel Levine to be an assistant secretary of health. Murthy and Levine were advanced by the Senate Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions (HELP) Committee with bipartisan support last week – the vote in favor of Murthy was 16-6, and the vote in favor of Levine was 13-9. The Senate is expected to vote to confirm the nominees early this week.

House Passes Bill to Avert Medicare Sequester Cuts

The House of Representatives has passed legislation (H.R. 1868) to avert $36 billion in Medicare sequestration cuts triggered by the American Rescue Plan Act and to extend the current moratorium on the 2% Medicare sequester. The bill passed by a vote of 246-175, with 29 Republicans joining Democrats in support of the legislation. The latest stimulus package triggered statutory pay-as-you-go (PAYGO) requirements that would result in a 4% sequester to the Medicare program in early 2022. H.R. 1868 would waive the PAYGO rules for the recently-passed reconciliation package and extend the temporary pandemic freeze on Medicare reimbursement cuts, set to expire at the end of this month, through the end of the year. The bill will require 60 votes for passage in the Senate. While other PAYGO waivers and the Medicare sequester freeze have previously been accomplished in a bipartisan manner, some Senate Republicans have indicated that they will not support H.R. 1868. Sens. Jeanne Shaheen (D-N.H.) and Susan Collins (R-Maine) have introduced their own legislation (S. 748, the Medicare Sequester Relief Act) to suspend the 2% sequester for the duration of the public health emergency (PHE) while also extending the 2% sequester for an additional calendar year.

Democrats Urge WH to Waive Patent Protections for COVID Vaccine

Congressional Democrats are continuing their effort to push the White House to increase the global availability of vaccine supplies. President Joe Biden has committed $4 billion to COVAX and has offered Mexico and Canada access to the U.S. stockpile of the AstraZeneca vaccine. Some lawmakers, however, are urging the President to support a temporary waiver of patent protections for COVID-19 vaccines. This waiver would allow global manufacturers to replicate vaccine formulas to increase vaccine production across the world. The waiver, which was proposed by India and South Africa through the World Trade Organization (WTO) last year and is supported by 55 other countries, was opposed by the Trump administration. A letter to the President from House Democrats in support of the waiver has been signed by close to 100 members, including Appropriations Chair Rosa DeLauro (D-Conn.) and Ways and Means Trade Subcommittee Chair Earl Blumenauer (D-Ore.). Proponents of the waiver argue that any loss of profit by pharmaceutical companies resulting from the waiver would be offset by the global economic gains that result from pandemic recovery across the rest of the world, while opponents believe that strong intellectual property protections are necessary to incentivize continued innovation. The administration has said that it will make its decision based on its analysis of how effective the waiver would be. The WTO operates by consensus, meaning all 164 members would have to agree to support the waiver in order for it to take effect. A U.S. change of position, however, could carry weight with other opponents of the measure. The issue will next be examined at a WTO meeting in mid-April.

In a related effort, Joint Economic Committee Democrats sent a letter asking the Biden administration to develop a plan to share the nation's surplus Covid vaccines with low- and middle-income countries and the COVAX initiative.

The Return of Congressional Earmarks

The House Republican Conference has voted to bring back earmarks, following the decision by House and Senate Democrats to do the same. The decade-long ban on congressionally-directed spending was lifted during a closed door vote on Wednesday. Under the resolution adopted by the conference in a 102-84 vote, GOP members will be required to publicly disclose their earmark requests and affirm that they do not have a financial interest in the projects. They will also be required to explain why the earmark is an "appropriate use of taxpayer funds." Member seniority, committee assignments, and leadership positions will not be taken into consideration in the facilitation of an earmark request. Senate Republicans are still debating whether or not to lift their own ban on earmarks.

HHS Personnel Update

President Joe Biden has announced that he will nominate Dawn O'Connell to serve as Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response (ASPR) within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). O'Connell has been working as a senior counselor for COVID response at HHS for the past two months. She previously worked as the director of the U.S. office of the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness and served in the Obama administration as a senior counselor to the HHS secretary on global health issues. If she receives Senate confirmation, she will lead the federal government's pandemic preparedness efforts and the Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA) and oversee the Strategic National Stockpile.

USPSTF Announces New Leadership

The U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (USPSTF) announced the appointment of Karina W. Davidson, Ph.D., M.A.Sc., as chair and Michael J. Barry, M.D., as vice chair last week. Carol M. Mangione, M.D., M.S.P.H., will remain in her role as vice chair. Dr. Davidson will assume the role of chair from Alex H. Krist, M.D., M.P.H., who will now serve as the immediate past chair. Professional biographies for Dr. Davidson, Dr. Barry, and all USPSTF members are available here.

CDC Releases Details on Vaccine Disparities

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has released a new report finding vaccine disparities in 31 states across the nation. Vaccine coverage is lower in counties that have the highest social vulnerability, which is measured through an index taking into account social, economic, racial, and ethnic factors. The largest disparity among counties related to socioeconomic status. Alaska, Arizona, Minnesota, Montana, and West Virginia were found to have successfully achieved coverage in highly vulnerable counties across all or most measures. The report includes best practices from states with high equity, including early prioritization of minority groups, transportation support, and collaboration with community partners.

MedPAC Issues Recommendations on Telehealth Flexibilities

The Medicare Payment Advisory Commission (MedPAC) is urging an extension of telehealth flexibilities instituted in response to the COVID pandemic for up to two years after the public health emergency (PHE) concludes. According to the recommendations published on Monday, these telehealth expansion policies would allow more time for data to be gathered on the use of virtual care to inform a decision on which measures should be made permanent. Prior to the pandemic, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) generally only reimbursed telehealth care provided to rural patients at a health care setting. Coverage has since been expanded to include all patients regardless of location for the duration of the PHE. While some policymakers have raised concerns that the use of virtual care could increase health care costs across the board, MedPAC is recommending that payments for audio-only visits be extended beyond the PHE and that Medicare return to the previous lower payment rates for telehealth visits in comparison to in-person appointments. The Commission also recommends that providers be required to have in-person visits with a patient before ordering durable medical equipment (DME), which has been found to be a target for fraud and abuse.

HHS Delays Trump-Era Regulations

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) has decided to delay until 2023 a Trump-era rebate rule that would have altered payments made from pharmaceutical manufacturers to pharmacy benefit managers (PBMs). Under the rebate rule, PBMs would no longer be permitted to adjust rebate payments based on the price of a drug. The postponement of the regulation follows a court order from the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia placing the entire rule on hold for almost two years. HHS also announced that it would delay a regulation that would cause existing health regulations to expire if they are not reviewed by HHS every 10 years. The retrospective review regulation, which was scheduled to go into effect on March 19, 2021, will now be delayed until March 22, 2022. The administration explained that the postponement was made to allow a legal challenge to the measure to proceed.

NIH Quantifies Research Losses Stemming from Pandemic

The National Institutes of Health (NIH) lost $16 billion in research as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. This constitutes more than a third of the NIH's current spending level of $42.9 billion, and is a $6 billion increase over a previous projection from agency director Francis Collins. In his testimony before the Senate Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions (HELP) Committee last week, National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID) Director Anthony Fauci told panel members that the pandemic has impacted the ability to conduct research in areas other than COVID-19.
